OVERVIEW

David has worked for more than fifteen years in the public sector at both State and Federal level, with experience across a broad range of industry sectors including sport and recreation, transport, investment attraction and tourism.

As Manager of the Commercial Analysis Unit, Sport and Recreation Services in the State Government, David led a team that managed sport infrastructure projects and proposals. His experience includes feasibility studies, facility planning and management, business planning, financial analysis, contract management and procurement management.

Through his employment in Sport and Tourism in the Federal Government, David was involved in tourism policy development, management of grant funding to support staging the Sydney 2000 Olympic and Paralympic Games and management of the Regional Tourism Program. This included assessment and management of applications for grant funding made under the program.

David's experience provides him with the ability to recognise the needs of stakeholders, grasping complex ideas quickly and responding decisively with practical solutions tailored to the needs of his clients.

David has a personal interest in the development and sustainable growth of community accessible sport and leisure facilities
